

DOMAIN-ONLY OPPORTUNITY

floatingnuclear.com

A focused name at the intersection of marine and nuclear energy.

A descriptive .com domain for a future research, publishing, or industry-information project concerning floating nuclear energy. The current offer is the domain and documented email configuration; no operating energy project, engineering design, permits, website product, or regulatory approval is included.

Proposed acquisition scope

The domain name and documented custom-domain email configuration, subject to owner-approved terms. The current email setup uses contact@ with info@, sales@, and hello@ aliases; these are not four separate inboxes.

Potential use and buyer fit

Specialist energy and maritime publishers; Infrastructure research and information businesses; Industry education and conference operators. These are use hypotheses, not evidence of demand, affiliation, or buyer interest.

Current readiness and handover

Email provider delivery review remains open. Production readiness is not confirmed. Request current test evidence and the domain transfer status. Buyer-controlled email hosting, domain renewals, migration, and transaction fees are separate. The shared provider account, credentials, and historical correspondence are excluded.

What the offer does not represent

Domain-only opportunity. No developed website, software, business operations, traffic, revenue, customers, exclusivity, trademark clearance, technical performance, or buyer interest is represented. Future uses are concepts for independent evaluation. Hosting and email subscriptions are separate.

Request the current terms

View this property at WebAssetHouse.com or email inquiries@webassethouse.com with the domain, intended use, and timing. The final written asset inventory and agreement control.