

DOMAIN-ONLY OPPORTUNITY

privateaicomputer.com

A name for an AI computer under your control.

A descriptive .com domain for a future private or locally controlled AI computing offering. The current offer is the domain and documented email configuration; a developed website, software product, hardware, customers, and revenue are not included.

Proposed acquisition scope

The domain name and documented custom-domain email configuration, subject to owner-approved terms. The current email setup uses contact@ with info@, sales@, and hello@ aliases; these are not four separate inboxes.

Potential use and buyer fit

Local AI hardware and workstation businesses; On-device AI software developers; Technical publishers and computing communities. These are use hypotheses, not evidence of demand, affiliation, or buyer interest.

Current readiness and handover

Email provider delivery review remains open. Production readiness is not confirmed. Request current test evidence and the domain transfer status. Buyer-controlled email hosting, domain renewals, migration, and transaction fees are separate. The shared provider account, credentials, and historical correspondence are excluded.

What the offer does not represent

Domain-only opportunity. No developed website, software, business operations, traffic, revenue, customers, exclusivity, trademark clearance, technical performance, or buyer interest is represented. Future uses are concepts for independent evaluation. Hosting and email subscriptions are separate.

Request the current terms

View this property at WebAssetHouse.com or email inquiries@webassethouse.com with the domain, intended use, and timing. The final written asset inventory and agreement control.